(b) (a) This subsection applies to a session of the general assembly beginning after November 15, 2021. SECTION 3. IC 3-3-2-3 IS ADDED TO THE INDIANA CODE AS A NEW SECTION TO READ AS FOLLOWS [EFFECTIVE UPON PASSAGE]: Sec. 3. (a) This section applies to any action challenging the apportionment of congressional districts or general assembly districts.

(1) The state has a compelling interest in preserving the integrity of its elections and ensuring elections are fair, orderly, and free from chaos and confusion.

(2) Actions challenging the apportionment of congressional or general assembly districts can have statewide impacts on the electoral process and disrupt the orderly conduct of elections.

(3) Judicial alterations to election laws can interfere with the orderly administration of an election, cause unanticipated consequences, and undermine voter confidence in the electoral process.

(4) A prompt, orderly determination of apportionment issues by a court of last resort is critical for preserving election integrity, protecting voter confidence, and preventing chaotic disruption of the electoral process.

(c) The following apply in any action to which this section applies:

(1) A temporary restraining order may not be sought or issued.

(2) The supreme court has mandatory and exclusive jurisdiction over any appeal from an order granting, extending, modifying, or refusing to dissolve an injunction. However, this subdivision does not apply to an appeal from an order refusing to grant or dissolving an injunction.

(3) The supreme court has mandatory and exclusive jurisdiction over any appeal from a final judgment or any other appealable order holding the apportionment unconstitutional or otherwise invalid, either in whole or in part.

(4) If an appeal is taken from an order, injunction, or judgment concerning the apportionment of congressional districts or general assembly districts, the order, injunction, or judgment is automatically stayed by operation of law pending disposition of the appeal by the supreme court. Any party may seek relief from the stay in the supreme court, and relief from the stay may be sought only in the supreme court.

(5) Any action or appeal of an action to which this section applies must be given priority over ordinary matters.
